"The Air Traffic Control Tower will contribute much to the Istanbul New Airport with its iconic character"

Pininfarina's design for an air traffic control tower is in the shape of a giant tulip for Istanbul New Airport. The most significant companies within the industry participated in the competition with best designs. After a difficult selection process, they preferred the tower design that resembles tulips, created by AECOM and Pininfarina.

The design of the tower combines aspects of the modern with traditional elements. The twisting form is based on a tulip, which has been the symbol of Istanbul for centuries. The curved, 96-metre high building will be visible to all passengers flying into or out of the new major airport. This spectacular tower in the shape of a giant tulip will become an iconic symbol of the new airport in Istanbul.
